2020 Certificates of Achievements

These awards honour the contributions made by members of RAHS affiliated societies to local and community history.

Keith Brown – Gunning & District Historical Society

For his local research achievements, commitment, quality of service and significant support to the Society since becoming a member in 2008. As Research Officer until 2019, Keith's indefatigable researching, writing and sharing of the local history have been an ongoing and invaluable contribution in the research and promotion of the district's history in its regional (and national) context. He is the author of local and family history publications including the local 1843 murder case. In 2018 he was awarded Upper Lachlan Citizen of the Year (Shire Award) for his contribution to preserving the history of the shire.

The Society recognises Keith's generous support, donations and assistance with their Research Centre and as volunteer Museum guide.

Anne Fernandez – Mosman Historical Society

For her significant contribution to the Society's digitisation project of early Mosman newspapers on the National Library of Australia's Trove website. Since 2017, Anne's tireless work of regular liaisons with staff of the local and national libraries and the preparation of successful grant applications to secure the external funding for this project provided the highly successful and widely viewed online Trove access to the Mosman Mail 1898-1906 and the Mosman, Neutral and Middle Harbour Resident 1904-1907 & 1919 early in 2019.

Anne's achievements, dedication and efficiency are recognised in her role in this project and as Secretary for the Society.

2020 Certificate of Appreciation

This award honours the contribution made by RAHS volunteers.

Maximilian Reid

A recent History Major graduate from Macquarie University, Maximilian has volunteered for the Society since December 2019. He has made a number of online contributions to the RAHS Blog and social media channels, including an Australian cricket history series called Outside Off, which details the intersection of societal change and cricket. Max has also written book notes and assisted with copyediting recent History magazines. His historical interests include collective memories, Prussia, and politics in sport.
